You might already have seen d+ class B series somewhere. Many professionals are using the d+ series and you can easily hear the difference on your own sound system.

The conductor of d+ class B is 18 AWG pure oxygen free copper to prevent the low quality sound by signal loss and to bring great quality on all sound systems. The flat architecture of the cable prevents signal distortion by the interference of conductor spacing.

d+ class B is similar quality as high-end audio cables but the cost isn't too expensive, so it will suit all musicians.
