OTG cables go between your phone and your DAC. We produce both the USB C and the micro version. They transfer the digital signal from your phone into your DAC. This connection must be stable. That's why we use a USB 3.0 'A' female connector. It is proven to be a much more mechanically reliable connection. We believe you guys deserve the best, even in the small stuff.

We also make our cables from top-notch materials. They are constructed from pure OFHC continuous cast copper – an excellent conductor – to deliver a superior, clean signal from your phone to your DAC. This, in turn, delivers the best sound to you to keep you and your music on-the-go, go, go!
